Why Royale?

Quite simply because it represents the best we can offer our customers in terms of performance, durability and aesthetics.

The satisfaction of a job well done

Pascal Marchand
President of the EuroCave Group

“Royale is the result of a desire to excel in our work. In France, we talk about wine maturing but also *élevage. I think this is the best word to describe the immense obligation that we have in our profession. I.e., doing everything we can to nurture the wine in this crucial development stage of its life.

To date, EuroCave has accumulated over 40 years of expertise in wine storage. We have devoted all of these years to developing and improving our products.

To do so, we have formed research agreements with many university laboratories highly specialized in the areas of physical chemistry applied to wine, mechanical vibration, thermodynamics, air treatment and even measuring electromagnetic waves.

In this way, we have accumulated exceptional knowledge in our sole area of expertise: storing both open and closed bottles of wine.

This is how, quite naturally, the idea of producing the best wine cabinet in the world formed in our minds. We had this unique knowledge which allowed us to design it.

We created Royale for you, passionate collector, with the desire to offer the ultimate conditions for your wine collection. ”

*Elevage: nurturing the wine throughout its development process to allow it to reach its full potential

The fruits of 40 years of work

Sébastien Bussonnière
Researcher in the EuroCave engineering and design department

“ For over 40 years, EuroCave has had a passionate desire to transmit, during each tasting experience, a full array of emotions, created by the wine producer and so valued by discerning wine lovers.

Expertise in the five criteria essential for optimal wine maturing is a fundamental requirement for EuroCave.

We have completely devoted the past 40 years to researching and developing durable products that ensure optimal wine maturing.

Which is why, we set ourselves the ambition of designing THE best wine cabinet in the world.

After three years of research and collaboration with all of the marketing, manufacturing, engineering and design teams,
After three years of analysis in close collaboration with high-tech laboratories,
After three years of very exciting work,
We have reached a level of unprecedented performance and expertise.

Today, we are proud to say that we have succeeded in channelling all of our wine maturing know-how and expertise into designing an exceptional wine cabinet,

Royale. „
